FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

CLEANING TECHNOLOGIES GROUP, LLC PROMOTES GREG ALLEN TO INNOVATION ENGINEER

February 2, 2016 – Cincinnati, OH

Cleaning Technologies Group is pleased to announce the promotion of Greg Allen to the position of Innovation Engineer. In his new role, Greg will lead Ransohoff Innovation efforts as well as coordinate R&D, working with various departments.

“Greg has been instrumental with the Innovation Engineering Management System (IEMS) at Ransohoff and has demonstrated the passion and capability to lead us forward in innovative ways,” said Barney Bosse, Chief Executive Office of Cleaning Technologies Group, LLC

Greg has been with Ransohoff since June 2008, serving in several positions, including Mechanical Product Engineer, Application Engineer, Innovation Facilitator and most recently, Innovation Engineer. In this position, Greg will be the primary point of contact for new product and process improvements and will provide early concept development, preliminary engineering and design work. Greg will steer machine designs to be “easy to manufacture” with current processes or introduce new manufacturing processes if needed. The ultimate goal is to create new products that provide maximum customer value at a marketable price.

Greg is a graduate of Trine University, formerly known as Tri-State University, with a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering. He also holds a Blue Belt in Innovation Engineering®. Greg is a member of the Innovation Leadership Roundtable sponsored by Techsolve.
